Why we have launched a trust fund now

Hartpury College has historically had funded bursaries that have allowed us to support specific students. We have decided that to benefit a wider number of students going forward, to set up a general trust fund into which future gifts and bequests can be donated. This will allow us to allocate funding to areas of most need or respond to specific requests more quickly. The objective of the Hartpury College Charitable Trust is to ensure that every one of the students who studies at the College has the chance to thrive and excel, and with your support we can make that happen.

How your support can make a difference

- By enhancing the opportunities available to our students, both academically and outside those studies
- Helping us to continue to create an excellent student experience across all areas
- By supporting continued development in our facilities through capital projects

How you can help us continue our great work

- By making a donation to the Hartpury College Charitable Trust
- By leaving a legacy to Hartpury College Charitable Trust in your Will

Nurturing talent

"Having had a break from education for 11 years, I was worried I would be at a disadvantage but I was offered support every step of the way. Being disabled, it's a big help that I can drive my car to lectures. My confidence has grown and I'm now starting on the BSc equine management top up. I'd like to go on to do my masters and then become a lecturer."

If I hadn't come to Hartpury, I honestly don't think I'd be where I am now. It was a risk at the time, doing a BTEC instead of A-levels, being the only person from my school to come to Hartpury and living away from home, but it has paid off massively for me. [My tutors] understand that it's tough for me to balance my studies with my playing commitments, but the flexibility and support I receive is helping me to get a degree and ensure I have something to fall back on when I've finished playing."
